

27TH-29TH OF NOVEMBER 2014. INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON RESEARCH AND INNOVATION FOR SUSTAINABLE SOIL MANAGEMENT

OBJECTIVES

The ICRISSM 2014: International Conference on Research and Innovation for Sustainable Soil Management aims to bring together leading academic scientists, researchers and research scholars to exchange and share their experiences and research results about all aspects of Land Degradation and Sustainable Soil Management. It also provides the premier interdisciplinary forum for researchers, practitioners and educators to present and discuss most recent innovations, trends. Practical challenges encountered and solutions adopted, in the field of Land Degradation and Sustainable Soil management, will be highlighted.

Selected papers from the ICRISSM will be published in a special issue of T Egyptian Journal of Remote Sensing and Space Sciences (EJRS) journal after the peer-review process.

The conference will increase the visibility and scope of NARSS through linkage with international scientific societies. It will contribute to Research and technological development in capacity building and management in the field of land degradation and sustainable development. Moreover, the event will enhance participation in the H2020 program.

CONFERENCES THEMES

The themes for the Conference will focus on, but not limited to the following main axes

- Soil erosion
- Land degradation
- Soil suitability and capability
- Soil management
- Geographic information systems
- Remote sensing
- Soil pollution
- Nanotechnology
- Water management
- Land reclamation
- Soil salinization
- Agro forestry
- Effect on food security

Venue - Hurghada

Today, Hurghada is known as a party town, particularly among Europeans. Locals and others will tell you that life begins at night in Hurghada, with many, many clubs. They are particularly frequented by the young, but certainly many others of all ages. One may often find a rousing party centered around the visitors from a tour group taking over the action of a particular bar. They are easy to find along the main street, along with loads of inexpensive and expensive hotels.

The unique underwater gardens offshore are some of the finest in the world, justifiably famous amongst divers. The warm waters here are ideal for many varieties of rare fish and coral reefs, which may also be observed through glass bottom boats. This area has many fine accommodations, usually offering warm and efficient service. Restaurants are mostly along the main road. While in Hurghada, don't miss the museum and aquarium, with their complete collections of flora and fauna of the Red Sea.

Islands near Hurghada offer all kinds of fun and excitement. Take a day trip to Giftun Island for snorkeling and a fish barbecue, or view the Red Sea from a submarine! When you're not in the sea you can shop in the boutiques, relax in the luxury holiday villages or visit the Roman Mons Porphyrites (mountain of porphyry) remains at nearby Gebel Abu Dukhan (Father of Smoke).

Day-trips or safaris to explore the Red Sea Mountains by camel or jeep are also available. Other nearby islands and destinations include the Shadwan Island (Diving, snorkeling, fishing but no swimming), Shaab Abu Shiban (Diving, snorkeling and swimming), Shaab el-Erg (Diving, fishing and snorkeling), Umm Gammar Island (Diving and snorkeling), Shasb Saghir Umm Gammae (Diving), Careless Reef (Diving), Abu Ramada Island (Diving), Shaab Abu Ramada (Fishing), Dishet el-Dhaba (Beaches and swimming), Shaab Abu Hashish (Beaches, diving, snorkeling, swimming and fishing), Sharm el-Arab (Diving, swimming and fishing and Abu Minqar Island (Beaches and swimming).

The distinctive privileges of Red Sea

The Red Sea is a diver's paradise, with the sincerest of warm seas, very little wave action and incomparable visibility. It is considered to be one of the 7 Wonders of the underwater world, sheltering more than 1,000 species of invertebrates and over 200 species of soft and hard coral. This forms the basis of a marine eco-system which includes 1,100 species of fish, of which just fewer than 20% are endemic to the Red Sea, i.e. these fish species can only be found here. The high level of endemism here is one of the main factors that make Egypt scuba diving so interesting.

The Red Sea dive sites offer you unobstructed opportunities to spot tropical marine life in crystal clear waters, ranging from sharks and dolphins to gorgonian fans and feather-stars. Variety is in no short supply either and depending on where you choose to dive. Your diving holiday can include shallow patch reefs, drift dives and walls, or a collection of some of the most interesting remains you are likely to find anywhere. In other places vibrant reefs stretch out far into the sea and form intricate labyrinths of plateaus, lagoons, caves and gardens.

You could find yourself on a coral garden atop a summit and the next a sheer wall could plunge thousands of feet into dark ocean depths. The Red Sea's abundance of marine life and depths of the reef are a thrill that many divers will tell you are unbeatable.

These dive cruises can take you around the best of the Northern (Sinai Peninsula and the Hurghada wrecks) or Egypt's Southern Red Sea. Breathtaking scuba diving, fantastic boats and inspiring topside scenery all await you here.

For the ultimate holiday of a lifetime, why not combine our promising conference with Red Sea dive trip with an adventure tour to discover the historical sights of ancient Egypt? You can take an overland tour of Cairo to visit the pyramids, the Sphinx and the famous museums, or a Nile cruise through the Valley of the Kings.
